Starfish are aiming higher... to give you complete peace of mind

Starfish Construction are delighted to announce that on the 12th May 2011 they achieved vendor status on the Altius System. We're pretty confident that our core assessment pass will cover most of what you need, health & safety legislation to the necessary levels of insurance. The 'Aim higher programme is designed to help achieve new standards as well as save you time and money.

In today's environment it's no longer acceptable to Starfish or our clients just to examine our health and safety charter. What we need is a complete and robust assessment of the entire company, this includes how we view and address our Corporate Social Responsibilities, to give us and our clients assurance that we are up to scratch and to demonstrate that we are taking all reasonable steps to limit any risk and liability. We need to do this in as simple and efficient way as possible and also to have all the relevant info at our fingertips. This is why we have Altius.
